   o President’s Report
     TAACCCT Grant

President Leary reported the college recently celebrated a rededication of the LCCC Wilkes Barre Center in recognition of several new initiatives at the Center. Working together with our longtime partner, the Wilkes Barre Chamber of Business and Industry, the College recently renewed our lease agreement for the site for 7 years, and we were pleased to present the recently renovated and upgraded site to the community.

In addition to the facility renewal, another new development at the LCCC Wilkes Barre Center is the creation of new scholarships specifically for students who attend this site. Beginning with the fall 2015 semester, the College will offer two new scholarships for students; one will be awarded to a full-time student and one to a part-time student. President Leary expressed his appreciation to the LCCC Foundation Board of Directors for their support of this initiative.

In addition, under the leadership of Rebecca Brominski, who was recently appointed as the site director, the schedule at the Wilkes Barre Center will now include courses scheduled at times that are more convenient for high school students who take part in LCCC’s Early College program. Through the Early College program, high school students can earn college credits at a reduced tuition rate while enrolled in high school.

The Wilkes Barre Center also hosts ESL training (English as a Second Language) and GED preparation courses, in addition to the numerous credit courses offered each semester.

President Leary reported the College is entering into a five-year Dual Admission agreement with King’s College that will enhance transfer opportunities for LCCC students who plan to attend King’s after completing their associate’s degree at LCCC. Earlier today several LCCC officials and I met with King’s College President Father John Ryan and members of his staff to officially endorse this agreement, which guarantees admission to King’s College for eligible LCCC students who complete specific associate degree programs. To qualify for this dual admission program, students must complete at least 12, but not more than 20, credits of post-secondary academic course work and must maintain a 2.30 grade point average for all college courses. Also, the student must enroll at King’s College within one year of graduation from LCCC.

In addition to the guaranteed admission into King’s upon graduation from LCCC, students accepted into this program will receive other benefits. For example, King’s College will waive the admissions application fee and will award academic scholarships to qualified students. King’s will guarantee each student enrolled in the program a minimum of $10,000 annually in institutional aid upon full-time enrollment as well.

Furthermore, students enrolled in the Dual Admission Program but not yet matriculated at King’s will be eligible to register free of charge for a maximum of nine credit hours in courses offered by King’s. These courses must be applied to the specific degree program that the student intends to pursue at King’s.

President Leary stated both he and Father Ryan are pleased that our institutions are working together to improve the transfer process and benefit students. King’s College is one of our top transfer schools, and this agreement will help make it easier for LCCC graduates who wish to pursue a bachelor’s degree to continue their education and achieve their goal.

The President reported that the College continues to strengthen our Safety and Security measures to ensure a safe learning and working environment for our students and employees. Most recently, the College’s Campus Safety and Security and Information Technology departments installed several new emergency alert systems. The first system, Alertus, allows Security to issue an immediate warning to faculty and staff through LCCC computers. In the event of an emergency, Security will send out messages that will appear on computer screens, overriding whatever is currently being viewed on the screen.

The second system, the LynxKeyPro Panic/Duress Notification System, allows staff to send a silent panic alarm to Security using their computer keyboard. These systems are up and running and are available on the main campus in Nanticoke and all dedicated sites.

An external Mass Alerting System has also been set up on the main campus. Through this system Security can send out emergency messages using voice and tone across the campus, reaching students, staff and visitors who are walking from building to building, or who are located in other outside areas.

President Leary stated these new systems add additional layers to the existing emergency communications procedures the College has in place.

At this time, President Leary introduced Sue Spry, Vice President of Workforce and Community Development. Vice President Spry provided a brief report on the TAACCCT Grant the college recently received; noting the grant kick-off event will be held November 11, 2014, at Northampton Community College who is the lead agent of this grant initiative.

Vice President Spry stated the TAACCT grant is funded through the United States Department of Labor. Initially we received the grant as part of the 14 community colleges in Pennsylvania. We are now in our final year. All versions of this grant were developed to address the skills gap we see in many of our higher and middle skills employment type opportunities. This final award, received by Northampton Community College, Lehigh Carbon Community College and Luzerne County Community College, was the only consortium in the state of Pennsylvania to receive the $10 million grant for the three colleges. Luzerne’s portion is $1.8 million. $4 million will be shared activities among the three colleges. We are dedicating the money toward curriculum development, equipment and supply acquisitions. The three programs that will be enhanced or developed which are: welding program, diesel technology program, and engineering design and manufacturing program. At this time Vice President Spry introduced Bob Conner, faculty member, who works in the automotive area and was instrumental in the development of the diesel program.

Mr. Conner stated for the past five years, the college has offered two diesel classes at the college. The Pennsylvania Department of Labor has identified diesel as a high priority job. This fall semester the college offered a diesel diploma program. The program was very successful. It is the college’s goal to move the program into a certificate program and ultimately a two-year associate’s degree program.

Vice President Spry stated all three programs the college is developing are all high priority occupations. The U.S. Department of Labor’s focus is whether our students can find sustaining employment at the conclusion of their training. Vice President Spry stated it is her belief after finishing our program they will find sustainable employment.

At this time Vice President Spry extended an invitation to the Board of Trustees to attend the November 11th kick-off event at Northampton Community College in Bethlehem. Transportation will be arranged by the campus.
