This educational series is multifaceted and designed to foster the College's General Education Competency of developing a foundation of personal growth and development. Through a variety of events and learning experiences students will develop an understanding (knowledge) of the impact of Human rights and culture from a Global perspective.

Separately and in combination, these opportunities hopefully will have changed our world view and help us to better understand others whose lives are different from ours.

The Following Questions Ask You to Reflect on What You Learned about the Global Human rights

1. Identify three (3) new things you have learned that may/will impact your future behaviors, attitudes or beliefs, pertaining to Global Cultural differences.
